MERGER GROUP PUBLICITY MAN TELLS OF WORK

Annexation Plan Was Developed In S. M. County, He Says

SAN MATEO. — Pointing out that the plan for the consolidation of San Mateo and San Francisco counties was primarily developed by San Mateo county civic workers, D. A. Raybould, publicity chairman of the San Mateo section of the consolidation committee, has outlined the steps by which the merged form of government was developed. He said:

"Following the appointment of the consolidation study committee by joint action of the presidents of the San Mateo, Redwood City, San Francisco, Burlingame, South San Francisco chambers of commerce and the Coastside Civic Union, the committee adopted 'San Francisco-San Mateo Consolidated Committee' as their name. They next decided to develop a plan of consolidated government for submission to the voters of both counties.

Got Legislative Act

"After securing the adoption of the San Francisco-San Mateo Consolidation Act of 1929 the committee proceeded to formulate an outline for a consolidated government. A separate San Mateo county division of the general committee, known as the Governmental Functions Committee, was organized with Col. C. N. Kirkbride of San Mateo as chairman. After holding numerous meetings and conferring with various officials throughout the county, this committee developed the governmental plan outlined in San Francisco's new charter. Subsequently the San Francisco and San Mateo members of the general committee adopted this plan. A committee of well known attorneys from the two counties then drafted and secured the adoption by the San Francisco Board of Freeholders of the consolidation sections of the charter.

"Last year, after the adoption of San Francisco's new charter, the Governmental Functions Committee was enlarged and renamed the San Mateo County Section of the Consolidation Committee. Mr. John D. Bromfield is chairman of this committee which has developed recommendations regarding supervisorial and commission representation, and a suggested plan of school administration.

Merger Workers Named

"The recommendations are now being placed in legal form by the same committee which drafted the original charter sections and should be made public within the next few days.

"San Mateo county citizens who have actively participated in developing the consolidation plan include the following: W. A. Boekel of San Mateo; Marsden S. Blois, former president of the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce and resident of Belmont; John D. Bromfield, former president of the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce; T. Louis Chess, president of the San Mateo County Federation of Improvement Clubs; David Cosgrave of Redwood City; George J. Davis, Millbrae school trustee; E. B. Hinman, San Mateo county clerk and former president of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce; James S. James, San Mateo county engineer; Col. C. N. Kirkbride, prominent San Mateo attorney; Henry C. Maier, Burlingame banker; S. D. Merk, former Burlingame newspaper publisher; D. A. Raybould of San Mateo; Judge C. A. Shurtleff of Menlo Park; R. Guy Smith, Moss Beach postmaster and coastside civic worker; Arthur H. Stetson of San Mateo; John H. Sullivan, Menlo Park civic worker; Edward F. Treadwell, first mayor of Burlingame and prominent constitutional attorney; Frank B. Whipple of Menlo Park, and George W. Williams, Burlingame builder."

$15,000 VERDICT IS GIVEN PLAINTIFF IN HER SECOND TRIAL

Woman Faints Three Times; Injuries Blamed

In her second court fight to win damages for serious and assertedy permanent injuries incurred in a Millbrae automobile-stage accident, Mrs. Audrie A. Rameriz of San Francisco late Tuesday won a $15,000 judgment from a jury in Superior Judge Franklin Swart's court.

She three times was overcome by epileptic fits during the trial, the result, the jury was told, of her injuries. She fell from the witness chair the first time despite the efforts of a nurse to prevent just such an occurrence. Court was delayed while she was removed to the judge's chambers, where she was revived, only to fall victim again to the same malady. Later she again became ill.

Jury Out 28 Minutes

The case consumed most of Tuesday, with the jury's verdict being brought in at 6 o'clock after 28 minutes of deliberation. Charles R. Spencer was foreman of the jury.

The Peninsual Rapid Tran Company, now the Greyhou Lines Inc., was defendant. John M. Sullivan was driver of the stage, and John Shelton of San Francisco driver of Mrs. Rameriz' car. He was teaching her to drive, but was at the wheel at the time Stanley Baldwin, University of California football star, was "picked up" by them and was being taken to San Francisco at the time.

Happened in Millbrae

The accident occurred on the state highway in Millbrae on April 23, 1930.

Judge George H. Buck set aside the $20,000 verdict which a jury in his court awarded the woman in her first suit, which was held here on December 19, 1930, saying the evidence was insufficient to warrant the judgment. She had asked $50,000.

Bicycle-Auto Crash Victim Seeks $15,000

Injuries incurred when he was crushed under an automobile in Stanford Park on May 14 resulted in the filing of a $15,000 damage action in superior court in Redwood City on behalf of William Gutterman, 13, Stanford Park schoolboy.

The defendant is Ely Enten, son of Samuel Enten of Menlo Park. The injured boy's father, Samuel Gutterman, Stanford Park resident, brought the suit.

Young Gutterman was riding a bicycle at the time of the accident, May 14. Enten was driving an automobile. The lad was crushed under the axle of the car, and suffered hemorrhage of the left lung and other extensive injuries.

The father asks $15,000 general damages, $4 for the bicycle, and $189 for hospital and medical expenses.

Louis Oneal of San Jose is counsel for the plaintiffs.

Children Heirs Of Late Mrs. Cockcroft

The will of Mrs. Isadora Cockcroft, well-known church woman of Burlingame, was filed for probate with County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman in Redwood City yesterday. The petition is that of John B. Cockcroft. Her estate will exceed $10,000.

Charles Dexter and Kenneth Dexter, her two sons by a former marriage, are left $1500 each. The balance of the estate is left to three children born to her and Cockcroft, John Jr., Elizabeth and Mrs. Grace Rutledge.

BUILDING GOOD IN COUNTY SEAT DURING 1931

December Permits, However, Suffer Slump

Redwood City's building permits issued during the past 12 months amounted to $714,934, it was announced today by I. C. Drathman, building inspector, who closed his books for the year.

Although the total was under that of 1930, it was declared to be a good showing, and one which indicated that the community has suffered less in an economical way than has been the experience in other localities. The figure for 1930 was $869,727.

There were 351 building permits granted this year, and 337 last year.

A marked decrease was noted in December's permits, which were $17,895, as compared to $76,860 in 1930.

Among the larger buildings constructed this year is the new Tribune plant on California street, soon to be occupied. It was built at a cost of approximately $25,000, but the total investment is $95,000.

Here are some comparative figures, from 1922 to 1931: 1922, $452,482; 1923, $794,696; 1924, $1,103,441; 1925, $921,163; 1926, $1,061,907; 1927, $775,636; 1928, $1,082,239; 1929, $722,878; 1930, $869,727; 1931, $714,934.

The mother of Victor Gonzales, 40, service company employe of San Mateo, who with his wife, two small children and a woman friend were killed by a train in San Mateo December 22, will sue the Southern Pacific Company over their deaths, a petition filed here for letters revealed yesterday.

Gonzales' estate will not exceed $10,000, the petition of his brother, Daniel D. Gonzales, sets forth. The man's mother, Mrs. Theodora Gonzales, resides in Half Moon Bay.

FINKLER WILL IS HELD INCOMPLETE

Findings of facts and law, one of which alleges that the will of Henry C. Finkler was not complete because of the "codicils to follow" reference, have been filed with Judge George H. Buck. The matter of probating Finkler's will was continued to January 14 by Judge Buck to give Attorneys Lee and Hall Ross time to peruse the findings of Attorney J. E. McCurdy.

Miss Christina Finkler, half-sister of the late court secretary, is contesting the probate of the will, but a verdict in her favor has been set aside by Judge Buck and an appeal will probably follow by which she will seek a new trial.

Cruelty Alleged In Crow Divorce Suit

Alleging cruelty, Mrs. Armenia Crow has filed a divorce complaint against James I. Crow in the superior court in Redwood City. They were married in Humboldt, November 15, 1920, and separated on December 5. She seeks custody of a minor son, Vernon Crow, 7. David Cosgrave is counsel.

COUNCIL GIVEN PETITION FOR 2-LIGHT STANDARDS

Main street is to have its "bright lights" after all.

Following the filing of a petition wit hthe city council Monday, City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt was instructed to prepare plans for the lights and to submit a report of the costs to the city board.

Two-light standards are to be installed between Maple street and Five Points, and between Broadway and the new Redwood Creek bridge on the Bayshore highway.

It was said that the petition represented a large majority of the property owners on Main street, and the council expects that the project will meet with almost unanimous approval. Main street already has the two-light electroliers from Broadway south to the railroad.

It was said the lights would cost about 20 per cent less than when the project was previously considered.

The council's action directing the city engineer to prepare a report on the costs was taken on motion of Councilman Paul McCarthy, seconded by Councilman Charles Lambert.

Sportsmen Take Club

Final details of the agreement whereby the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club takes over the lease of the Redwood City Yacht Club for use of the boathouse at the waterfront were worked out Monday night.

The club is to furnish the watchman for the boats and to take care of lights, etc., with the city to pay $40 per month toward the caretaker's salary. In return, the club will pay $25 monthly rental to the city.

The agreement between the sportsmen's club and the city is on a month by month basis, the council having canceled the lease of the yacht club on motion of Councilman McCarthy and second of Councilman Charles Hildebrant.

Water Storage Discussed

An inspection of proposed sites for the new city reservoir in the western hills was set for Thursday at 2 o'clock by the city council following a report on the matter by City Engineer Dimmitt. He plans to build a storage tank that will hold at least five million gallons, which at the present rate of use, would be adequate for two and one-half days.

Dimmitt said the minimum which the city should hold in reserve would be a 24-hour supply, which would be two million gallons.

The most favored site is at the end of Jefferson avenue.

Plan Assessment Study

Mayor Daniel R. Stafford, Councilman Lambert and Councilman William J. Dusel were named as a committee of three, upon motion of Councilman McCarthy and second of Councilman Hildebrant, to confer with City Collector Nelle Miramontes as to the city's assessed values.

The city's assessments are to be brought before the Redwood City District Real Estate Board for study and advice, and a report will then be brought back to the council.

The objective is to determine what reductions and what increases in value are justifiable.

Bus Service Planned

Plans for a bus service to the North Fair Oaks district were revealed to the council Monday by Attorney Norman S. Menifee, who asked whether the council would grant a taxi license to the applicant if the line is established.

Menifee explained that the operator of the Emerald Lake bus will also establish the North Fair Oaks line. In order to pickup and deliver passengers to various points in the city from and to the outlying districts, Menifee said it would be necessary for the council to grant a taxi permit. The other permits are obtained from the state railroad commission.

The council introduced an ordinance presented by City Attorney Albert Mansfield amending the existing taxi ordinance so that the permit could be granted. Taxicab operators present were advised by the council that this service would not be permitted to interfere with the general taxi business.

Shut-Off Valves Wanted

City Building Inspector I. C. Drathman reported to the council that gas shut-off valves are installed on the street line to business establishments and apartment houses, but that otherwise they are at the meters under the dwellings.

The building inspector said that so far he has found no city with an ordinance requiring the shut-off valves away from the house, but that San Mateo and Berkeley are now considering such a law.

The Berkeley house blast of recent weeks has brought the matter acutely to the council's attention.

Other Council Items

City Engineer Dimmitt said he would start work on the Woodside road shoulders as soon as the weather permits. The $3000 needed has been appropriated by the county from Supervisor John Poole's funds.

City Manager Rolison said that he was awaiting what other cities were doing in the question of the 1915 bond delinquencies before advising the city's course. He has requested a summary from the California League of Municipalities.

Election precincts in the city were fixed by an ordinance adopted on motion of Councilman McCarthy.

Deed from Leonard & Holt for Hudson street property was accepted on motion of Councilman Hildebrant and second of Councilman Henry Beeger.

Rolison reported that the proposed neon city entrance signs at the Bayshore highway would cost about $650 each and advised that this matter go over for consideration in the next budget.

Councilman McCarthy complained that the Broadway crossing signals appeared to be inadequate to halt state traffic and the council asked Rolison to investigate.

SEVERAL HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

BURLINGAME. — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maloney, 1129 Cambridge road, were cut and bruised Sunday night when their automobile was hit by a car driven by Bertrand Maninat of Redwood City, on the Bayshore highway near Broadway. The Maloney car was out of gas, and had stopped on the highway.

In another accident, Mrs. Freda Kaufmann, 70, of San Francisco, incurred cuts on the face when the auto driven by Adolph Kaufmann collided with a second car at San Carlos.

H. B. Swasey of San Francisco was slightly hurt when his automobile overturned on the Bayshore highway south of Mills field. His two children escaped injury.

R. C. HARBOR SEEN AS INDUSTRY AID

That Redwood City will become the next great industrial area with the building of its deep water harbor, was predicted by George W. Fitch of the industrial department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, speaking before the noon meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday at Sequoia Hotel. Mr. Fitch, who recently visited Lakehurst, N. J., the home of the dirigibles, Akron and Los Angeles, also told the Kiwanians that the Sunnyvale dirigible base was destined to become the greatest tourist attraction on the Pacific Coast upon its completion.

A. S. Liguori of the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club presented tickets to the members for an exhibit which the sportsmen are arranging for January 19 at Sequoia high school.

John Gill, as president, presided. Howard I. Wood was chairman, and arranged the program.

FIRST ACCOUNT OF FLOOD ESTATE REVIEWED BY JUDGE

The first account of the estate of James L. Flood, deceased, was up for settlement before Judge Buck in the superior court yesterday. At the request of the court the document was submitted in order to give the judge an opportunity to peruse it before passing upon it.

The account shows the receipts, up to August 15, 1931, to be $5,151,747.62 and the disbursements $4,649,599.65, leaving a balance of $502,147.90 in the hands of the executors.

Included in the expenditures is the family allowance item of $10,000 a month.

The estate was appraised at a little more than $8,000,000.

On December 30, last, the sum of $265,000 was paid to the state of California on account of the estate's inheritance tax.

TRUCKS COLLIDE AS DRIVER DOZES

Two trucks crashed together on El Camino Real at James yesterday morning at 6:25 o'clock when the driver of one of them went to sleep, causing injury to himself.

E. J. Golladay, 20 Pryce street, Santa Cruz, was driving a northbound truck which was hit in the center by the truck of Giovanni Mattiucci, 2342 Bay street, San Francisco, who had fallen asleep, he told Officer Harold Fleishman.

Mattiucci incurred a bump on the head and a cut on the left ear, but refused medical treatment. Both trucks were damaged.

Interest In Estate Claimed By Jockey

Lloyd S. Fage, Tanforan jockey, has field a petition with the superior court in Redwood City to have Colaman T. Connelley of South San Francisco appointed as special executor of his estate.

Fage, who is to ride in races in Mexico and will shortly leave this county, claims an interest of $1735 from the estate of Stuart Polk, for whom he rode. He asks that Connelley be appointed to collect this money.

Jugoslavia is planning to electrify state owned mines in five provinces at a cost of more than $17,600,000.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD COUNTY MEET IN R. C.

Two-Thirds Rule Ban Among Matters To Be Considered

Democratic politics will be launched in Redwood City at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the Democratic Central Committee meets in the courthouse with hopes of achieving five objectives.

Judge John J. McGrath, chairman of the county central committee, will preside. Notices are being sent out by Edmund Scott, district attorney of San Mateo county, and secretary of the committee.

Twenty-three Delegates

Twenty-three delegates will be at the meeting. The following five resolutions will be before the group for consideration and adoption, Judge McGrath announced:

(1) Abolishment of the two-thirds rule in the national conventions, with the majority vote to determine the party's candidates.

(2) Securing of 44 delegates by California, instead of 26 as at present, the increase to be based on 1930 census figures instead of those of 1910, which now are used.

(3) Endorsement of San Francisco as the national convention city in 1932.

Liquor Question Up

(4) Securing of a national vote on modification of the liquor laws, with the "wet" and "dry" issues to be left up to the states themselves.

(5) Endorsement of Justice Wardell of San Francisco as the Democratic nominee to oppose United States Senator Hiram Johnson.

Rewards Honesty Reduced Sentence

It pays to be frank and honest in telling the story of a crime, even if one is implicated in the crime. This was demonstrated in the superior court yesterday before Judge Swart when Ralph Angelo and Dempster Gatwood were up for arraignment. They robbed the Public Food store in Redwood City on Christmas eve, securing a small sum of money and a carton of cigarettes.

Angelo told a rambling tale of the robbery that did not impress the court. When it came time for Gatwood, who is a negro, aged 18, to speak, he squared himself, looking the court straight in the eye and in a candid manner related the facts of the theft, covering every detail. He declared he was never in any trouble before, was sorry for the part he took in the affair and solemnly declared he would never again get into trouble. It would be his aim for all time to follow the straight and narrow path.

Judge Swart followed him closely, announcing at the conclusion of the boy's recital that he was impressed by the lad's frankness and was convinced that he was telling the truth. The court commended Gatwood for his frankness.

Both young men plead guilty to the charge of robbery. Angelo was given probation for two years, six months of which is to be spent in the county jail. Gatwood was given probation for one year, two months of which he will pass in the county jail.

During their probation period both will be under the jurisdiction of the court and the probation officer, Charles Robinson.

EARLY REGISTRATIONS INDICATIVE OF INTEREST

San Mateo county and Redwood City will take a lively interest in political affairs in 1932, with city, county, state and national issues before the people, early registration totals indicate.

County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman reported voters were registering at the rate of better than 100 a day, the returns showing 550 citizens already on the permanent rolls, which are being made up this year. Redwood City had 300 voters registered, according to books turned over to the clerk's office.

Democrats Show Gain

Early registration indicates that the Democratic party is increasing its support in this Republican county. First returns show the ratio is three to one in favor of the Republican party, whereas a year ago the figures gave the G.O.P. a three and one-half lead.

Informed of this, Judge John J. McGrath of San Mateo, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, announced that his party hoped to cut the lead to a 50-50 basis this year.

Redwood City had 49 Democrats and 141 Republicans registered. Six Redwood City residents declined to state their party, and two registered as Socialists.

All Must Re-register

Old registration blanks are now void, and everyone must re-register to be eligible to vote in the year's political contests. Special deputies throughout the city have been appointed by County Clerk Hinman, and his office is open from 9 to 5 for registrations. His goal is 35,000 or more registered citizens in 1932.

Summer Home At Atherton Burglarized

Alexander Hamilton's Residence Invaded By Prowler

The summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, wealthy San Francisco residents, at Menlo Heights, Atherton, was broken into by a prowler sometime during the week-end, according to a report made to Police Chief J. E. Farrell of Atherton.

Practically every room in the large home was entered, but Chief Farrell expressed the belief today that the mysterious prowler missed what he was looking for. The Hamiltons are at present at their residence on Washington street in San Francisco.

D. B. & M., for recreational and domestic purposes. Estimated cost, $5000.

BOARD URGED TO INCREASE EMPLOYMENT

Supervisors' Action For Wines, Beer Protested

Predicting dire consequences if unemployment continues and an "outcome far more expensive than going in debt," two Redwood City men Monday addressed the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors on the need of creating jobs.

Raymond A. Long asked the supervisors to consider the placing of additional men on the La Honda road saying that the recent rains have produced slides that have almost cut off passage in certain places, and that some trees are standing on the banks which are about to topple onto the road.

Poole Answers

This was answered by Supervisor John Poole with the statement that some 18 to 20 men were being employed on the La Honda road, and that some 40 men were being employed on the roads in the Third District. Additional men would be put to work, he said, except that the district funds are insufficient.

Long protested the employment of men from other cities than Redwood City, and this was answered by Supervisor Poole in stating that his district embraced other cities than his home community.

Feeling "Runs High"

Benjamin H. Eilar asked the board to seriously consider the menace of the unemployment situation, saying that he comes in contact with unemployed men and that feeling is running high in the face of continued want.

Chairman Manuel Francis of Half Moon Bay and Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey of South San Francisco said the matter was also a problem in their respective territories, but that the supervisors were helpless in the face of insufficient funds.

Bond Issue Opposed

Mrs. E. A. Chase of Lomita Park protested the $240,000 bond issue called for January 16 in the San Mateo Union High School District, but was told the supervisors had nothing to do with the election. Her protest was based on the existing $9 tax in her district, and she said it was no time to be "wasting" money on gymnasium, band and locker rooms, for which over $80,000 has been provided in the proposed issue.

Similar protest was made by a Mrs. Kowalski of Lomita Park. She also protested additional street lights.

County Surveyor James S. James told the board that the additional sanitary facilities in Memorial Park will cost $2978. He was instructed to prepare plans for new closets to cost not more than $2000.

H. A. Bagenstose of Daly City filed an application for appointment as a traffic officer.

Supervisor Poole asked the county surveyor to prepare a report on the storm water conditions at Valparaiso avenue and Madrona avenue, Menlo Park.

Applications for appointment as agricultural commissioner of San Mateo were filed by Lewis B. Sherrill, Santa Cruz county; Thomas W. Peryam, Yolo county; W. T. Clow, Mendocino rancher, and Paul L. Higley, Berkeley.

Wet Stand Hit

Two protests against the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors' action in memorializing Congress to bring about modification of the national liquor laws to permit light wines and beer were filed with the board Monday.

One came from Paul Pilgrim of North Palo Alto, who said the board was wasting its time and intelligence "if it has any" in "fooling around with the liquor question." He said the fact that the county assertedly "went soaking wet" at the last election did not give the board the cue to attempt to modify the liquor laws.

Pilgrim urged the board to cut down expenses and to "quit spending the taxpayers' money like drunken sailors."

Says Foreigners Favored

Rue R. Clifford, a South San Francisco school teacher, expressed regret in her complaint that no member of the board gave thought to the Americans in San Mateo county, saying the "foreign element is well represented." She said the board's action represented only the wish of a small minority in the county, and that such action is "indicative of the lawless element, which is doing its best to foster crime and strike at the roots of our government."

Both complaints were ordered filed by Chairman Manuel Francis.

Menlo Park

St. Joseph's Alumni held its annual meeting Sunday afternoon last at the auditorium of the parochial school. A large membership was present, in fact the largest in the history of the association. These meetings are always looked forward to with the keenest pleasure for they bring together former pupils of the widely known institution and a happy reunion of old pupils is the result. Mother Foley, principal of the school for 20 years, is never so happy as when greeting her boys and girls, as she calls them, on those occasions. Her former pupils, too, are always delighted to hear again her pleasant words of encouragement. At this gathering the officers for the year are chosen and sometimes keen rivalry is manifested. The retiring president, James O'Keefe, who has held the position for three terms, was commended for his excellent administration of the affairs of the association.

For the coming term the following officers were elected:

Thomas Kearney, president; Mary Weston, vice president; Jane Doyle, secretary; Desmond Sullivan, treasurer, John Bracesco, sergeant at arms. After the election the alumni was addressed by Father Kennedy who took occasion to praise the splendid work of the members during the past year in caring for the material wants of the school. Mother Foley was given a substantial check by the members. She was touched by the kind remembrance of her former pupils and friends. An entertainment and refreshments followed the routine business. The gathering was the most successful and delightful in the history of the society, which was organized more than 20 years ago.

Next Wednesday, January 13 the recently organized Post No. 443 of the American Legion will meet in Native Sons' hall in Masonic Temple to elect permanent officers.

Phil Blanchard, acting post commander, and C. W. Call, acting adjutant, have been busy lining up prospective members and a representative group of fifteen World War veterans have signed the charter of the post. Any war veteran desirous of affiliating with the new post is requested to get in touch with Acting Post Commander Blanchard who resides at 800 Oak Grove avenue, Menlo Park.

Speakers at the meeting on January 13 will be District Legion Commander T. Lewis Chess who will present the charter to the post and C. F. Whitney, San Mateo county commander of the American Legion.

The membership quota has been set at 35. The post leaders believe they will have 50 members on the roster this year.

In the Baptist parsonage at Salinas Mrs. Henrietta Penfield and W. A. Shelbourn were united in marriage on December 29, Rev. Robert G. Kay officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Shelbourn will be at home to their many friends on January 10 at their home on College way, Menlo Park.

The untimely death of William Marvin on Tuesday was a distinct shock to his numerous friends in this locality. He resided with his family at his palatial home at Los Altos. Mr. Marvin was a brilliant attorney and financier. Mr. Marvin was only 39 years old when the Death Angel called. Had he lived he no doubt would have attained political prominence in the state. Three years ago Marvin was one of the managers of the Hoover campaign in the state.

A marriage license was issued on Saturday last at San Jose to William A. McCutcheon, 44, Menlo Park, and Adeline Hallanan, 42, Palo Alto. The couple are well known in this community.

County Clerk Hinman of Redwood City has issued a marriage license to Noel H. Jack, 57, and May G. Wall, 37, both of Menlo.

Wild pigeons in large numbers have made their appearance on the Flood estate and neighboring ranches. The bird is protected by the federal government and cannot be hunted. They are very destructive to growing crops and sometimes the farmer has to break the law to save his crops.

The many friends of John O'Brien, Palo Alto, and son of John O'Brien of Menlo Park, will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from an attack of pneumonia. For a time his relatives were much alarmed about the result of the illness.

Registration of voters began on the first of the year. The old register has been cancelled so that all desiring to vote at the approaching city election in April will have to register before March. Register now and get your name on the books. It is probable that Mayor Weeden, whose term expires in April, will have no opposition for re-election. He shouldn't for he has made an efficient and painstaking official who has worked earnestly for the best interests of Menlo Park, devoting his time and energies to the people. It is, indeed, a good omen for better government when a busy man like Mayor Weeden will consent to devote his time, without compensation to the interests of the people. Such men ought to be kept in office.

Those desiring to be registered may do so by calling at the city hall or at the office of Ward E. Monroe, realtor, on the highway.

Cyrl Russell, who passed away in San Francisco recently, was a son of the late Stephen Russell, the fireman who lost his life in a conflagration some years ago. The elder Russell grew to manhood in Menlo Park and was assistant fire chief of the fire department of San Francisco at the time of his death. Cyrl was 37 years old. His sudden death was a severe shock to his mother. The deceased was a nephew of G. E. Russell, San Jose, and a large property owner here.

George Baker Worrell, 24, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Worrell of Stanford Park and Miss Blanche Edith Flotre, aged 21, late of New York, were united in marriage last evening in this city. The young couple will live at Palo Alto where the young man is engaged in the cleaning and dyeing business. The beautiful bride is an expert beauty operator.

The big sign board between the bank building and the bakery shop was taken down the first of the year and this gave rise to the rumor that a building was to be erected in its place. There is nothing to the rumor for no structure will go up in place of the ancient sign board.

Silias H. Palmer, who spends his summers at Atherton, is an aspirant for one of the big executive positions under Mayor Rossi of San Francisco. Mr. Palmer is a prominent contractor. Some years ago he married one of the two pretty Holbrook girls of Atherton, Sam Knight of Hillsborough marrying the other daughter.

Permanent Registration

One will watch the results of the so-called permanent registration of voters with considerable interest. It is expected that it will be the means of compelling more voters to go to the polls and cast their ballots in all elections, because of the provision that if a voter fail to vote at national primary and general elections, his or her name will be dropped from the rolls and a new registration will be required before such a voter will be eligible to vote again.

The year 1932 is a presidential election year. In this year there should be the largest possible poll of votes. There is no valid excuse for any elector failing to vote at a primary or general election, except that of being bedfast, or too ill to be moved from his abode to the polling place. Any citizen, who is physically able to go to the polls and vote, but does not do so, should be denied the right of the franchise thereafter.

In the new scheme of registration the right of franchise may not be taken away from any negligent citizen, but he can, and will, be given a lot of unnecessary trouble in the matter of registration and re-registration, from which the faithful voter will be free.

This newspaper does not intend to keep constantly reminding its readers that they must register—that EVERYBODY must register again this year. Let this one time suffice. Every qualified voter in California must go to his county or district registrar and be registered this year, no matter how many times he or she has been registered before. The registrars are now ready to register you. Do it now.

Rev. Patton of Hull, England, declares that "crimes and misdemeanors are incited and accelerated by the dress that women wear." We think the reverend gentleman's alarm and indignation come rather late. It is doubtful that women's dress or lack of it excites anyone very much in this day and time.

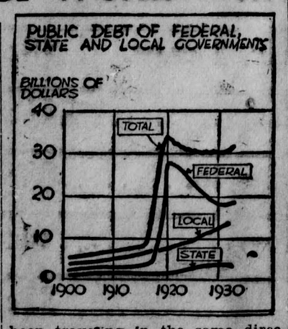
There is an old saying to the effect that no one wants to buy a lawsuit, but J. E. Betis of Vancouver seems to have done worse than that by buying a funeral. A trunk purchased by him for $14 at a sale of unclaimed express packages was found to be the embalmed body of a man.

Federal Debts Lower But Local Debts Have Mounted Since Close of World War

By ALLARD SMITH
Executive Vice President, Union Trust Co., Cleveland

Federal government debts were considerably reduced from the end of the war to last year. Had there been a similar reduction in state and local debts the taxpayers could cheerfully assume whatever added burden an increase in federal taxes to balance the national budget would impose. But state and local borrowing nearly offset the decrease in federal debts, with the result that the total of all debts remained about stationary.



From the beginning of the century to 1916 there was little change in the federal debt total, which stood at approximately $1,200,000,000, although in that period the total of state borrowings was doubled and that of local borrowings increased threefold. War borrowings carried the federal debt total to $25,482,000,000 by the close of the fiscal year of 1919. But commencing with the following year annual reductions were made which brought it down to $16,185,000,000 by 1930, a reduction of $9,297,000,000.

This national debt reduction, accompanied by reduction in federal taxes, would have made the burden on the taxpayers considerably less if state and local governments had been traveling in the same direction. But state and local borrowings increased more than $9,000,000,000 in the same period, with the result that now that federal government borrowings are on the increase the combined total reaches the approximate sum of $32,000,000,000, the larges in history.

It is evident that a considerable work in budget balancing faces state and local government as well as the federal government. It is a year for economy in public spending, to give the taxpayer, both individual and corporate, every possible assistance in effecting business revival.

Economic Conditions In State Show Mixed Trends, Says C. Of C.

During December, the general volume of trade in California cities increased over November by more than the usual seasonal amount, according to a preliminary analysis of bank debits to individual accounts, announced by the Research Department of the California State Chamber of Commerce. Total values of check transactions in 14 cities show an increase of 22.4 per cent over November. The average or normal increase during this period is 13.1 per cent, indicating a rise of 8.2 per cent in the seasonally adjusted index of California bank debits.

Final statistical records for November show mixed trends in California business activity during that month with no significant changes of either favorable or unfavorable character. Industrial employment decreased by the usual seasonal percentage. Carloadings increased more than seasonally, while building activity and trade declined to lower levels.

Harvest of major agricultural crops of the 1931 season was completed in November, except cotton and winter vegetables. Cotton harvest on reduced acreage will be 34 per cent below last years, and price returns very unfavorable. Receipts of livestock for slaughter have been large, and meat prices relatively low. Prices of poultry and dairy products have advanced over the low levels of midsummer, but are below prices of a year ago.

Rains Aid Farmers

The agricultural outlook for the coming season has been greatly improved by heavy rainfall, and a record breaking snow pack in the mountains. Rainfall to date is from 1 to 4 inches above normal in all parts of the state.

Production by California manufacturing establishments during November, as indicated by factory employment, decreased from the previous month, but only by the normal seasonal percentage, evidencing no change in the general level of activity, which at this time is about 20 per cent below last year's levels, and about 35 per cent below the high point in 1929.

California industries which show more employes and increased activity as compared to last month and the same period a year ago are explosives, fish canning, slaughtering and meat packing, and motion pictures. Iron and steel forgings, paint, printing and paper, tobacco, beverage, flour milling, and dairy products industries also showed increased activity during November, as compared to October, and employment considerably above the state average. Other industries where employment is relatively higher than the state average includes glass, shipbuilding, car shops, furniture, automobile tires, leather products, textiles and clothing, confectionery, bread and bakery products, and sugar refining.

Those industries where levels of employment are below the state average and are relatively in the most depressed conditions include lime and cement, brick and tile, structural and ornamental iron and steel, lumber and planing mills, agricultural implements, tin cans, foundries and machine shops, and petroleum refineries.

As compared to a year ago, employment in the gas and electric, street railway, and telephone utilities during November was about 15 per cent lower. Wholesale and retail establishments report a decrease of about 6 per cent in the number of employes during the same period of comparison.

Retail Trade Declines

California's retail trade during November was below October, according to department store sales in San Francisco and Los Angeles. November department store sales in the state as a whole were 13.3 per cent below November, 1930, as compared with a decrease of 15 per cent for the United States. Automobile sales continued to decline and were in November only 60 per cent of the number sold in the same month of 1930, and 38 per cent of the average November sales for the eight years, 1922-1929.

Building permits issued in 51 cities during November were valued at slightly over $7,000,000, a decrease of 24 per cent from October and the lowest monthly total in the last ten years.

'Roman Holiday Over,' Says State Treasurer; 'Tax Burden Too Heavy'

Charles G. Johnson, state treasurer, speaking to county treasurers at their annual meeting in Sacramento, said:

"California's state government today is confronted with the very serious problem of adjusting its appropriations of public tax money to meet a general public demand for financial and economic retrenchment. The burden of taxation has now become too heavy a load for the taxpayers. Their demand for relief is no longer a gesture. It is backed up by their definite determination that they will no longer be satisfied with promises.

"The continual advance in cost of government has run its course. The Roman holiday is over. Economy and retrenchment are imperative if the state is to avert a serious crisis.

Homes Confiscated

"Hundreds of thousands of Californians are forced to default on tax levies on their homes and farms and are abandoning them because they cannot pay. They are taking what little they have and joining the rapidly increasing army of unemployed. It is estimated that more than 594,000 pieces of property will revert to the state, due to inability to pay taxes. This is the most serious indictment of the tax burden California has evern known.

"The state, as well as counties and municipalities must realize the dizzy heights to which propaganda has led them. Political favoritism must stop and sound economic principles must be adopted. Extravagance in the expenditure of public money for schools and education which has run rampant for many years must be limited to actual needs.

"Government in every subdivision today is confronted with the problem of enforcing immediate and drastic economies. This problem can only be solved by maintaining the cost of present government within the present revenues and less if possible.

Time for Emancipation

"Much talk is heard about the necessity of discovering new sources of revenue. This is no time to inaugurate new tax levies and further increase the burden of the depressed taxpayers. It is folly to endeavor to maintain our prosperity by the lavish expenditure of public tax moneys. It is a temporary relief at best and can only serve toward greater complications. The day is rapidly approaching for California to emancipate itself from the evils of the present political control of its government.

"Inauguration of business principles in government by conscientious and trained business men would put an end to needless regulations of the intelligent public, together with the arrogance and stupidity of bureaucratic management of government. Business principles would simplify and define the special functions of government so that the taxpayers could understand their duty and obligations to government without the employment of statisticians and experts.

"California's present dilemma as affecting industry and agriculture points straight to the incompetency of government in trying to regulate and manage our industrial and agricultural enterprises. The paternal attitude of government demonstrates political cowardice. Through this paternalism, politics hopes to preserve itself. Government must regain public confidence, recover its dignity and limit itself in its influence for public welfare.

"The public should by this time be completely fed up on false promises, childish Utopias and political hokum."

Pointers From the Bridge Match

By PAUL BUTTENWIESER

As the gladiators of the bridge table pause for breath at the half-way mark in their 150-rubber battle, two points stand out in clear relief.

First, over a long period of play, the division of the cards will be absolutely even. With 475 deals completed, the proportion of aces and kings held by each side has been so close to 50-50 that it would take a slide rule to discern the difference. Luck is not an element in the long run. Hereafter we can discount alike the complaints of players who assert that they habitually hold bad cards, or the reputations of others for consistently having big cards. The fall of the cards is as impartial as the fall of the rain. The "poor holder" is one who alibis his poor playing; the "big holder" makes his cards seem big to others by virtue of his superior play.

The second point to be clearly brought out is that the so-called "psychic" or bluff bid to deter opponents, or reckless over-bidding to save the game, loses more than it saves A large part of the 10,000 point lead which the Culbertson team now enjoys has been made possible by ill considered defensive bids of the Official players. Jacoby, bidding one spade on a trickless hand, was promptly doubled and went down 1000 points, not vulnerable. Lenz essaying similar tactics when vulnerable, was penalized 1800 points. Again, Jacoby suffered a loss of over 2000 points when by reason of a false opening bid, he played the hand at an impossible grand slam contract, whereas correct bidding on his part would have resulted in a successful small slam, game and rubber. The Culbertson team have also incurred some disastrous sets, but have erred less in this respect than their opponents. For Mr. Average Bridge Player the lesson should be plain that at times it is cheaper to lose the rubber than to save it.

OUR WILD DUCKS — PROTECTION OR DESTRUCTION

(By CLAUDE FOX)

The open season permitting the hunting and shooting of wild water fowl for the year 1931 is now a matter of history and has left a large number of disgruntled so-called sportsmen, who claim there was no necessity for shortening the open season and as an argument to back up their grievances, point to the fact that during the season just closed, there were by far more wild ducks in the bay, ponds and marshes, than there has been for years past, and claim that the shooting season should have been left open for three and one-half months as it formerly was.

Personally I have lost all patience listening to such assertions, particularly when those declarations come from men of mature age. So far as the younger generation of duck hunters are concerned, the least that can be said is to excuse their remarks as being thoughtless.

For 52 years I have hunted the wild birds of the marshland; have seen thousands here where there is one today; have watched them come and go in their migratory flight and while hunting them year after year have made a deep study as to their habits, feed, flights, why they were here and the reasons for their going away. That their numbers have decreased very materially, especially during the last twenty-five years is a fact concerning which there can be no argument.

There are, in my opinion, several reasons for the diminution in the numbers of the wild birds that visit us every winter, but I shall not in this article attempt to convey my conclusions therefor. Later on I shall do so.

The time has now come, however, when something should and must be done to preserve for the duck-hunting boys of today and those of the future, the grand sport which has been enjoyed by generations of the past. The question must be met face to face. There must be no lagging or backsliding. To put off until tomorrow what should be done today will be fatal to the results desired.

When President Hoover signed the proclamation, allowing but one month for the open season, a hue and cry went up from one end of the state to the other, and our Chief Executive was unmercifully criticized for his action. Without any fear whatever of what may be said in regard to my personal views in the matter, I wish to say and go on record as maintaining that the President did exactly what was right and had he seen fit to close the season entirely, he should, and I believe, would have received the acclaim of every level-headed, deep thinking man who loves to hunt.

President Hoover undoubtedly gave the matter mature consideration after receiving the reports from the Biological Survey at Washington, and the Agricultural Department, and it is my honest belief that many of those who were so hasty to criticize will now, when they look at the matter with cooler heads, commend the President for what he did.

When I listened to the vaporings of some of the disappointed duck hunters, it reminded me of a story I heard years ago, which is worthy of repetition.

It was during the Civil War. A young man out in Illinois, had enlisted in the Northern army and his father was desirous of having his boy commissioned either as a lieutenant or captain. Approaching a friend who was quite intimate with General Grant, he requested the gentleman to intercede on behalf of his son. In due time the matter was presented to the heads of the Army. What can this young man do, inquired the General. Well, said the friend, he is a hell of a good man to give orders. Between puffs from his cigar Grant replied, "any damn fool can give orders, but it takes a man to execute them."

So it is with the matter now under consideration. Any damn fool can criticize, but it takes a thoughtful red-blooded he-man to know when he is right, go ahead and stand upon his convictions, and that is just exactly what President Herbert Hoover did.

PAY FOR IT NEXT SUMMER

Santa Clara county is now making another of its annual payments for neglect to conserve its flood waters—and getting comparatively little in return.

That payment so far this season has consisted of a conservatively estimated 25,000 to 50,000 acre feet of water contributed gratis to San Francisco bay.

Cash is not paid out at the present time for this water, but every resident of the valley, particularly the farmers who must irrigate, must next summer pay from $20 to $60 an acre foot for water to take the place of that which they are now permitting to waste.

Even taking the lowest figure of both estimates, figures far below the actual, it has cost the residents of this valley at least $500,000 since last Thursday night as a penalty for failure to create water storage facilities.—San Jose Mercury-Herald.

ROSE CARNIVAL'S REVIVAL

Santa Rosa plans to revive her famous rose carnivals. Years ago they were annual events, looked forward to with interest and appreciation by the residents of a considerable part of the entire state.

While it is true that modern conditions of living tend to rob events of this nature of much of their commercial value, their advertising value is still very great. Santa Rosa, known far and wide as a cultural residence city, can well afford to broadcast the fact that in the springtime she gives thought and attention to the beauty of the rose and pauses in the rush and hurry of modern life to do it honor.

With the American Legion making the rose carnival its major activity for the coming year, all question of its success is discounted in advance. That organization has the enthusiasm and the manpower to put it over and will be content with nothing but the best possible results. The time has come when Santa Rosa's annual rose carnival can be revived and made a permanent institution, to the credit and advantage of the community and all its surrounding territory—Santa Rosa Press-Democrat.

R. C. TEAMS DIVIDE BILL

By EL THOMAS

Victorious Wednesday by a score of 31 to 19, the Redwood City Eagles won their basketball series with Benne's Play Boys of Mountain View by virtue of a second-half rally engineered largely through the trick basket work of Johnny Weir, forward.

In the preliminary game, the Redwood City Native Sons met their first defeat in three years in a slow 25-22 contest with the Castro Native Sons of San Francisco, who switched dates with the San Francisco Boys' Club.

With the Eagles-Play Boy series even with one game apiece before Wednesday's game, there was considerable rivalry attached to the crucial contest. Capt. Gene Jordan started the scoring with a neat field goal, and Toby McLachlan followed with another shortly afterward, but these two shots were the Eagles' only efforts from the floor for the entire first half. Free throws by McLachlan, Weir, Shine and Lutje kept the Eagles in the running and gave them a 10-8 lead at the half.

Weir in Top Form

Within a few seconds after the opening of the second half, the Eagles ran the count to 16-8 on three field goals in quick succession by Jordan, Weir and Lutje. Weir's goal was a sensational one-handed flip, which was duplicated a few minutes later.

Whatever thrills were registered by Weir with his uncanny shooting were nearly equalled by the fine performance at guard put up by McLachlan. In addition to doing his defensive chores with Tom Shine effectively, McLachlan potted three long shots and a pair of free throws for a total of eight points, two short of Weir. Jordan with six and Clyde Lutje with five followed in the scoring.

Laznibat on offense and Backatich on defense were outstanding for the Mountain View cagers, who also play under the name of Kralevich's Knights. Laznibat, who scored 10 field goals against the Eagles last week, was held to three Wednesday night.

Natives Miss Chance

Despite the work of "Frenchy" Campagne in chalking up 16 points for the Redwood City Native Sons, the local team could not click against the rangy Castro Natives last night. Failure to sink free throws cost them the game, as they hung up 11 field goals to Castro's eight and were unable to drop any free throws, including even one of nine consecutive chances in the second half.

Redwood City's 14 to 10 lead at half dwindled during the third period, but Campagne and McKay kept their team in the running with a pair of goals. Captain Neubauer of Castro sent his team ahead with a long one, 19 to 18. McKay tied the score at 20 to 20, as Hinman was sent out on fouls. Ellington netted a left-handed "sleeper" for Castro, but Campagne took a surprise pass from a Castro player under the Redwood City basket and made it good. Campagne was forced out on fouls, and a free throw by Neubauer and a field goal by Lavin from a stall formation clinched a victory for the invaders.

Before the game, Curtis Rayer, guard, was elected Captain of the Redwood City Natives for the season, succeeding Jimmy McKay, forward. Rayer has been a steady performer with the team for three years and was outstanding as a lightweight player at Sequoia high school.

Monday night the Redwood City Eagles will play the Petaluma Eagles at Redwood City, and the Native Sons will meet an unnamed opponent.

Peninsula Cage League Cut To Eight Quintets

Eight teams entered in the Peninsula Basketball League will start competition January 18 in the first of seven weeks of play, it was announced Thursday by Leland Stanford of Burlingame, secretary of the league, following a meeting of managers at Burlingame Wednesday night.

Teams in the newly organized league, of which Al Bechet of Redwood City is president, include the Redwood City Eagles, Burlingame Ramblers, Peninsula Creamery of Palo Alto, South San Francisco Native Sons, Minshall Sport Shop of San Jose, Mountain View Knights, Mountain View Native Sons and Santa Clara Native Sons.

The Redwood City Eagles are slated to play the Mountain View Knights, from whom they have won two out of three games, at Redwood City January 20 in the opening round. This date conflicts with a game scheduled between the Eagles and the West Coast Army, but arrangements will be completed before that time, Manager Bechet announced.

Other first-round engagements are Peninsula Creamery vs. Santa Clara Natives at Santa Clara, January 18; Minshall Sport Shop vs. South San Francisco Natives at San Jose, January 21, and Burlingame Ramblers vs. Mountain View Native Sons at Mountain View January 21.

At the conclusion of seven weeks of play, the leading team will meet the winner of play-off games for the championship.

The stem of the peace pipe, used by primitive Indians, was three or four feet long, and elaborately carved.

INDIANS TO PLAY UCLA IN OPENER

Pacific Coast Conference basketball takes over the sport spotlight this evening, with the Stanford Indians entertaining the U. C. L. A. Bruins on the Card court while California's Bears make their first defense of their coast title against the U. S. C. Trojans at Los Angeles.

Three weeks of practice games have resulted in only fair success for each of the contending teams. Defeats and victories mark the efforts of the four quintets in pre-season contests. No one team has been particularly outstanding, although the U. C. cagers with a veteran lineup take to the firing line favorites to repeat their 1931 triumph.

Two exponents of the fast breaking offense, take the floor at Stanford tomorrow and Saturday nights, as the Indians and the Bruins play a two-game series. Both of the rival coaches, John Bunn of Stanford and Caddy Works of U. C. L. A., favor the quick dash for the opponent's basket, which provides fast and exciting play from a spectator's standpoint. The opposing teams are alike in another respect in that each started the practice season slowly and has come to the front very fast in the last two weeks.

The Bruins won two of the three contests played last year—one by two points and one by nine. Stanford's victory was one of those one-point nerve-wreckers, achieved by a spectacular last minute rally.

U. C. L. A., like Stanford, was forced to rebuild this year. Knowles, Von Hagen and Lubin, three regulars from last season, have been graduated. A formidable guard duo of Lemcke and Brotemarkle is intact, however, and Coach Works has found good men in Rose, center, and Piper, forward as replacements. The team's offense is built around Capt. Dick Linthicaum, all-coast forward in 1929 and 1931. LaCombe, forward; Packard, center and Norgard and Schnetka, guards, are new players on Coach Bunn's team who are counted on for regular work.

Of the four teams, the Bears and the Trojans have suffered the least through graduation. Coach Sam Barry has a veteran team at U. S. C. The same is true of the Bear team. For that reason U. C. and the Trojans are doped to finish one-two in the race, with Stanford and U. C. L. A. given an outside chance of pulling down in front.

Trojan Grid Stars Out For Basketball

LOS ANGELES. — Football's finale for Southern California in its New Year's Day 21-12 victory over Tulane has augmented the Trojan basketball squad by four men whom Coach Sam Barry believes will be very useful to the S. C. casaba cause during the Pacific Coast Conference season which opens Saturday night.

The Trojan gridiron quartet now performing on the basketball court includes Bob Erskine, Gordon Clark, Curtis Youel and Garrett Arbelbide. Erskine, Clark and Youel all were numeral winners on last year's freshman basketball team.

Broncos To Play Baseball Games

SANTA CLARA. — The University of Santa Clara baseball team will play 18 college games next season according to a California Intercollegiate Baseball Association schedule adopted at a recent meeting in San Francisco.

Coach Walter Mails' nine will open the season with Stanford on April 13 on the Broncos field. In all, 10 games of the 18 will be played on the Santa Clara field.

Practice is expected to get under way the latter part of the month.

PREP FIVE DEFEATS BALBOA

Sequoia high school's varsity basketball team erased a previous defeat at the hands of the Balboa high school cagers of San Francisco with an 18-15 victory at Kezar pavilion in San Francisco Wednesday afternoon. At Redwood City, the Sequoia 130s won a practice tilt from Fremont high school of Cupertino by a score of 14 to 7 and dropped a second engagement with the same team, 18 to 16.

This evening the Sequoia varsity and 130-pound quintets will play Polytechnic high school of San Francisco in the Sequoia gymnasium, and the Cherokee unlimiteds will also play the St. Ignatius high school five in a third game on the program, which is scheduled to get under way at 7 o'clock.

Bill Lewis, varsity forward, stepped out to take individual honors when the Cherokees took Coach Lloyd Leith's Balboa cagers into camp. Lewis worked well with Blasdel at forward and accumulated six points for himself on two field goals and two free throws.

Leo LeRoy turned in his usual consistent game at center, assisted by Capt. Jens Bugge and Ed Matheson, guards. The Cherokees clicked from the start, getting off to a 9-0 advantage at the quarter and 11 to 3 at the half.

"Frenchy" Pommes, shifted to center from his regular guard berth, and Carl Shine, guard, were outsanding for the Sequoia 130's despite their two-point defeat by Fremont, while Marcopolus and Baugh paved the way to a Sequoia victory in the second game.

Husky, Bear Crews To Race April 18

BERKELEY. — The University of California-Washington regatta this year will be rowed Friday, April 8, according to announcement today by Carroll M. "Ky" Ebright, California crew coach, following the completion of negotiations with Washington authorities for a satisfactory date.

The regatta will be rowed this year over the Sand Point course, a stretch of water of Lake Washington which has never before been used for intercollegiate competion. According to Ebright, the new course is superior to the old one because it is more protected from strong winds and will afford spectators a better view of the regatta.

Other dates on the Golden Bear rowing schedule include the Poughkeepsie Regatta on the Hudson in June, and the trials for the Olympic Games rowing in July on Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, Mass.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Granger, Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman and Doc King returned Sunday after having spent a pleasant outing of ten days on the Sequoia preserve on the bay shore.

Captain Lon Cook is happy again. This time it is not on account of his successful exploits at piscatorial sport, but only a streak of luck in playing the lottery. He raked off $500 recently but notwithstanding this fact, he is still doing business at the Popular.

Local nimrods were out en masse on the marshes Sunday and brought home some well-filled bags. They report a good day's sport. Joseph Lynch shot a dozen canvassback, the best that have been seen this season; W. T. Casey bagged 25 teal and widgeon, P. H. McEvoy also secured a large number of smaller ducks.

Mrs. Alexander Moore was badly burned Wednesday morning by having her clothes catch fire from the fireplace while she was reading. Dr. McCracken is in charge of the patient.

CHAPTER 70—

"I'VE CHANGED MY MIND"

It was with mingled emotions that Bellefonte heard that his father-in-law wanted to see him. He had learned of the arrival of the Kerrs in Cannes and was expecting such a summons. For several days he had been turning over in his mind various courses of action. He had come to the conclusion that he was letting Constance off too easily with an annulment and a settlement of half a million.

"After all," he told himself, "she's a lovely thing, and I'll be proud of her. Why shouldn't I enough to talk of settlements. Her father will have to pay my debts, and I'll be taken care of, too, because he won't let his daughter suffer."

Accordingly, when he presented himself at the hotel, he was prepared to talk business.

"You and my daughter are married," said Mr. Kerr, "and my daughter tells me that she does not wish to be your wife and that you have told her that an annulment and half a million will settle everything to your satisfaction."

Bellefonte assumed a most injured impression. "I may have said that in jest, or in a moment of anger," he protested, "but I never intended such a statement to be taken seriously. No, indeed."

Inwardly he was saying: "What would I do if he were to offer me a million. Constance, I'm afraid it would be good-bye."

But Mr. Kerr only looked at him keenly. "You know, of course, that Constance married you in a fit of pique, to spite Mr. Edmonds?"

"I know nothing of that," Bellefonte returned suavely. "I only know that she married me. She has treated me very badly since, but I am willing to overlook that, providing—Well, I have rank and social position to offer her, and I assume that you will see to it that—that other things are in keeping."

"Well, the impudent beggar," James Kerr was saying to himself. "I'd like to throw him out, but I must be careful for Constance's sake." Aloud he said: "Your statement puts a different face on the whole situation. When my daughter and I discussed it, she presented what she believed to be your attitude. Of course, if you have changed your mind, or if she did not understand—"

"I have changed my mind about several things—also, Constance did not understand my attitude," said the count. "If it is agreeable to you, I will send my solicitor to see you. I am not a man of business. I know very little about such matters. And now, perhaps, you will go with me to my club for an hour."

"With pleasure," said Mr. Kerr, raging inwardly, but not knowing what else to say. "But, pending a definite arrangement, may I ask that the marriage be kept secret—that things go on as before. Constance's mother wishes it so, and I want to please her."

"I agree to that, of course," said Bellefonte, "but I hope we can come to an agreement soon."

They were walking down the corridor to the elevator when Mrs. Kerr's maid hurried after them.

"Madame wishes me to say that the Baronne de Courcy and her son have just arrived. She asks you to remain here for a little while."

James Kerr shrugged his shoulders. "Tell Mrs. Kerr we will join her presently," he said.

The Baronne is a friend of mine," the count said. "I shall be delighted to see her." He chuckled to himself at the thought of how astounded she would be to see him on such good terms with Constance's father.

When he entered Mrs. Kerr's sitting room, Bellefonte hugely enjoyed the sensation that his presence caused. At the first opportunity, he spoke carelessly of a business matter that he and Mr. Kerr were discussing, and the Baronne's look of respect and envy repaid him for all the snubs he had endured in silence.

"I want you all to dine with me tonight," she said. "I would have called sooner, but I was engaging a new companion, and that delayed me. She is such a treasure that I had to see her. Carlo found her for me—a gentlewoman now in reduced circumstances."

While tea was being served, she rambled on to Mrs. Kerr about Constance.

"We shall miss her terribly. When Constance came to us, I rather hoped that, perhaps, she and Carlo might—well, become—" Her voice trailed off as Bellefonte edged closer.

"What a surprise you and your precious Carlo will have when my marriage to Constance is announced," he was thinking. "And how completely I will pay you back for all the humiliations I have endured.

He fidgeted while the women gossipped, and finally said that he must leave to keep an engagement, but he would return to accompany them to the Villa Mora for dinner.

"I must be going, too," said the Baronne. "Why, where is Carlo? I didn't see him leave. . . . Oh, here he is now!"

Carlo made breathless apologies for his absence. "I was afraid you would be gone before I could get back here," he said to the count. "I met an acquaintance who is very anxious to see you, and I took the liberty of bringing her here."

He stepped to the door and spoke to some one who was waiting in the hall. A sad-eyed, dark-haired woman appeared in the doorway.
